

Three-point perspective is used for objects that are seen from above or below.